

For students: The new Bovee/Thill student website, www.businesscommunicationblog.com, offers a subset of the instructor site features: Business Communication Headline News (headlines oriented toward students), Business Communication Web Directory, Business Communication Library, and Student Resources. Students can use the site for a variety of assignments, special projects, and independent research. This text's Companion Web site at www.prenhall.com/bovee contains valuable resources for both students and professors, including free access to a student version of the PowerPoint package, an online Study Guide, the English-Spanish Audio Glossary of Business Terms, the Handbook of Grammar, Mechanics, and Usage, and the Business Communication Study Hall, which allows students to brush up on several aspects of business communication: grammar, writing skills, critical thinking, report writing, resumes, and PowerPoint development. A NEW access-code protected Web site has been developed to accompany the ninth edition. This Web site houses the Peak Performance Grammar and Mechanics and Document Makeover features. This site has been designed for professors who wish to use this material but do not want the rest of the OneKey content and who do not need this information to feed the gradebook. The Prentice Hall Business Communication Website requires an access code, which professors can ask to have shrink-wrapped with new copies of this text. Please contact your local sales representative for the correct ISBN. Codes may also be purchased separately at www.prenhall.com/management. For instructors: Stay on top of new technologies, important trends, and hot topics with Business Communication Headline News, which uses the newest Internet technologies to deliver late-breaking news in headlines with concise summaries. You can scan incoming items in a matter of seconds, then simply click through to read the full articles that interest you. This free service offers numerous ways to enhance lectures and student activities:

- Keep current with the latest information and trends in the field.
- Easily update your lecture notes with fresh material.
- Create visuals for your classroom presentations.
- Supplement your lectures with cutting-edge handouts.
- Gather podcasts, online video, and other new media examples to use in the classroom.
- Enhance your research projects with the newest data.
- Compare best practices from other instructors.
- Improve the quality and effectiveness of your teaching by reading about new teaching tips and techniques.
