

The Dash: Lessons in Life, Faith, and Purpose

Learn How to Improve Your Life By Paying Closer Attention to It

When was the last time you took the time to really think about the life that you're living? What lessons have you learned from your everyday life experiences to become a better version of yourself? Our lives are so frantic. We're constantly on the go, leaving work late, rushing home to feed the kids before taking them to karate, soccer, and a million other outside activities. By overextending ourselves, our days become so jam-packed that we hardly have time to think about the lives we're living, let alone examine them to find the hidden lessons that we can use to become better versions of ourselves.

On Christmas Day 2014, I decided to do something about it. I started a blog that I wrote on Saturday mornings about the lessons that I learned about life that week - and this one decision completely changed me. I've heard about the power of journaling, but I never understood how powerful it really was to take the time to reflect on the life you're living in the moment and really examine what could be learned from it. The chapters in this book are the heart of those weekly writings, interweaved and cobbled together to tell the story of a life trying to be understood for the very first time. Along the way, I learned a lot about myself and I grew closer to God.

Introducing: The Dash: Lessons in Life, Faith, and Purpose

This book includes sections on:

- Goal setting and how to make progress every single day
- How to handle pressure at work and at home
- Overcoming fear and the danger of being good enough
- Staying committed to a dream when you don't see results
- Using the power of prayer for overcoming obstacles in your life
- Realizing the importance of living each day in the moment
- Finding ways to show appreciation to your loved ones
- And much, much more!

It's time to stop living an unexamined life. It's time to start paying closer attention to how you're living each day. The Dash will show you by example how to find the lessons that life is trying to teach you so you can become a better version of yourself. Scroll to the top of the page and click the buy button to learn how to examine and start improving your life today!
