

Nonprofit Leadership in a For-Profit World: Essential Insights from 15 Christian Executives

Leaders of significant faith-based nonprofits share insights, counsel, concerns, and aspirations for Christian leaders by responding to these questions: If you could give a last lecture to those called to be involved in faith-based organizations, what would be the most important lessons you would share? If you could invest one year in the next leader of your most treasured nonprofit organization, what would be your emphasis? As a Christian leader, what is the most important legacy God has allowed you to leave? The following leaders have each authored a chapter of Nonprofit Leadership in a For-Profit World: Richard Stearns, President, World Vision U.S.; Steve Douglass, President, Campus Crusade for Christ; Jerry White, International President Emeritus, The Navigators; Israel L. Gaither, Retired National Commander, The Salvation Army USA; Michael T. Timmis, Chairman of the Board, Prison Fellowship Intl; Elisa Morgan, Publisher, FullFill and President Emerita, MOPS Intl; Melinda Delahoyde, President, Care Net; David McKenna, President Emeritus, Asbury Theological Seminary; C. Jeffrey Wright, CEO, UMI (Urban Ministries, Inc.); Mark G. Holbrook, President/CEO, Evangelical Christian Credit Union; Steve Hayner, President, Columbia Theological Seminary; Joseph Krivickas, Chairman, Gordon College Center for Nonprofit Studies and Philanthropy; David J. Gyertson, Senior Fellow, Engstrom Institute; John C. Reynolds, Executive Vice President, Azusa Pacific University; Ted W. Engstrom, President Emeritus, World Vision Intl and Past President, Youth for Christ Intl.
