

Six Ways to Make Money Writing From Home

This book is for anyone who has thought that they might like to write but never knew if they could make a living from it. I believe that anybody who can currently write an email or a shopping list can make money from writing at home and this book is unashamedly about how you can make money writing from home. I have been making money from my writing since 1999. I have no special skills, no qualifications but what I do have is a love of writing and a huge desire to see other people enjoy the relaxed lifestyle I have created for myself. Writing is fun and a great way for you to share what you know with your readers. So if you have ever thought Oh I cant write but you had a secret desire to do so and make some money from doing it, then this is the book for you. No fluff, no BS, just six different ways you can make money by writing from home.
